Holidays and Project Due Dates

The holiday season is here! While a wonderful time of year, many people take time out of the office and folks are generally busy.

After reviewing many solicitations, we noticed a whopping 67% decrease in bidder response on projects due the first business day following a holiday. The response is even less for projects due on a holiday. For greater bidder participation and better bid results, choose a due date that isn't directly on or next to an observed holiday. Lastly, if possible, avoid having projects due between Christmas and New Year's day.
